1 About this career

An Accent Trainer is a specialist who teaches people clear pronunciation, the right accent, voice modulation and effective spoken English and communication skills. By working on phonetics, a neutral accent, pace of speech and confidence, they help learners speak in a way that foreign clients and colleagues can easily understand. Such trainers are in strong demand across BPOs, call centres, corporate companies, media and among students preparing for competitive exams. The rapid growth of India's global-services and BPO/KPO industry has made this an attractive and respected career.

2 At a glance

Minimum qualification	Class 12 + strong English; graduation & TESOL/CELTA preferred
Course duration	TESOL/CELTA about 1–3 months; voice-and-accent certificate a few weeks
Starting salary	₹18,000–25,000/month
Work mode	Full-time or freelance training in BPO/corporate/edtech

3 What you need

INTERESTS

- A deep interest in language, pronunciation and the way people speak
- Passion for polishing good English and communication skills
- Enjoying teaching people and building their confidence

ABILITIES

- Clear, articulate and confident speech
- A keen ear to catch fine differences in sound and pronunciation
- Patience to explain and correct repeatedly

KEY SKILLS

- Phonetics and pronunciation (neutral accent, IPA sounds)
- Maintaining patience with learners
- Giving constructive feedback and correcting errors
- Designing lesson plans, role-plays and practice sessions
- Effective communication, voice modulation and presentation skills
- Empathy — understanding a learner's hesitation and fear
- Active listening and identifying pronunciation errors

4 How to get there

- 1 Complete Class 12 and strengthen your English, pronunciation and listening-speaking skills.
- 2 Complete graduation (any stream; English/Mass Communication preferred) and practise phonetics and a neutral accent.
- 3 Earn a TESOL/CELTA or a voice-and-accent / train-the-trainer certification.
- 4 Gain experience as an assistant/junior trainer in a BPO or spoken-English institute.
- 5 Record sample sessions, take feedback and start freelance/online training.
- 6 With experience, move into corporate L&D, an edtech company or your own training institute.

MAIN EXAMS

- Cambridge CELTA assessment (teaching qualification certification)
- TESOL/TEFL certification assessment

6 What the work is like

WHERE YOU WORK

BPOs/KPOs and call centres, corporate L&D departments, edtech companies, spoken-English institutes, media houses and one's own online/freelance training.

WORK CULTURE

Usually 5–6 days a week; BPOs may involve shifts (sometimes night shifts). Much time is spent speaking before a batch, running practice drills and giving feedback. Freelance/online trainers can set their own hours. The field is also friendly to women and persons with disabilities.

WHO HIRES

- BPOs/KPOs and call centres (domestic and international)
- Edtech and online-learning companies
- Media, news channels and voice-over/dubbing studios
- Learning & Development (L&D) departments of corporate companies
- Spoken-English and personality-development institutes
- Independent (freelance) corporate and personal coaching

DEMAND (2026)

India is a major hub for global services, BPO/KPO and Global Capability Centres (GCCs), where clear pronunciation and a neutral accent are essential for speaking to foreign clients. Combined with the huge number of students and professionals wanting to speak English, demand for spoken-English and communication trainers keeps rising — accelerated further by the edtech and online-training boom.

7 Career growth

- 1 Junior / Voice-and-Accent Trainer
- 2 Senior Communication / Soft-skills Trainer
- 3 Training Manager / L&D Manager
- 4 Start one's own training business or online brand

EARNINGS

Starting	₹18,000–25,000/माह
Mid level	₹30,000–45,000/माह
Senior level	₹55,000–1,00,000+/माह

Per Indeed, a soft-skills trainer in India earns on average about ₹24,000/month, while Glassdoor puts a communication-skills trainer at around ₹36,000/month on average. Experienced senior trainers, corporate freelancers and those running their own brand/YouTube channel can earn considerably more.

8 The good parts · The challenges

The good parts

- Steady opportunities in the growing BPO, corporate and edtech sectors
- Flexibility and good income through freelance/online training
- The satisfaction of shaping others' confidence and careers

The challenges

- Strain on the throat and voice from constant speaking
- Pressure of shifts/night duty in BPOs
- Freelance income can be unstable at the start

9 Real-life journeys

Awal Madaan

Spoken English coach and founder of AwalEnglish, Delhi

Delhi's Awal Madaan learnt the practical nuances of English communication while working at an American company, rising to director level. He noticed that millions in small towns, despite knowing good English, hesitated to speak out of fear of mistakes. To fix this he began making online tutorials, and today his YouTube channel has crossed 12 million subscribers, earning him a Diamond Button. His story shows how a trainer who teaches clear pronunciation and communication can transform millions of lives while building a big career of their own.

Kanchan Keshari

Founder of the 'English Connection' YouTube channel and English teacher

Kanchan Keshari, from the small village of Sirsa in Uttar Pradesh, completed a postgraduate degree in English literature and began teaching on YouTube when her daughter turned one. At first she filmed videos holding her phone in one hand and a notebook in the other. Gradually her channel 'English Connection' grew to over 13 million subscribers and 1,400+ videos, and she co-built a learning app with her husband. Her story inspires every girl who wants to build a self-reliant career by teaching English and communication.
